Much of Australia has had rain this winter which is good news for everyone except fly sensitive horses. This spring and summer there'll be more flies, mozzies, midges, bot, and itch than we've seen for a while. DON'T WAIT until you've already got a problem to start addressing it. You know which of your horses are super-sensitive to fly menace so get them on the Think Fly feeding program BEFORE fly stress sets in. Think Fly works from the INSIDE, OUT . . . simply add to your horse's feed through the spring/summer months and eliminate fly nuisance forever!

Think Fly is a tasty blend of herbs, minerals, essential oils and natural trace elements which work their way through the body's system to create an invisible barrier against biting and bothering flies and midges. Just add to the daily feed. While some horses will notice an immediate difference, please allow up to two weeks for full effects to be felt and noticed. In times of increased fly pressure, simply increase dosage. It is important to note that horses who are no longer bothered by flies can maintain or gain weight, so monitor feed accordingly.

Be part of a revolution in horse care! This unique, all-natural product (no nasty chemicals or drugs) is manufactured in the UK to strict Australian Quarantine Inspection Services (AQIS) standards and imported especially for you and your horse by Global Horse Products.
