

Give your dog a BONE!

Since 1993 and the launch of Bathurst vet Dr Ian Billingham's book of that title, there has been a worldwide revolution in our understanding of the best, most nutritious and healthy diet for our canine and feline friends.

We believe that your dog or cat (or both!) should be fed in the same way that their wild ancestors were – raw meat, bones and a little bit of fruit and veg too. They need their roughage and plant foods just like you do!

More and more domestic animals are developing serious, long-term health problems from processed foods which are high in grain products and preservatives which are difficult for them to digest and have very little nutritional value.

Alternate Pet Food

You will notice a huge difference in your pet's health, energy and enthusiasm when you switch to a raw food diet. And if they could speak they would thank you for the switch! We source the finest quality mince and bones which are free from artificial colours and preservatives, from human grade suppliers.

It sounds expensive, but it's not! A raw food diet is a cheaper, healthier alternative for your best friend . . . and will ensure they're there for you for many years to come . . .
