

Starch Australasia

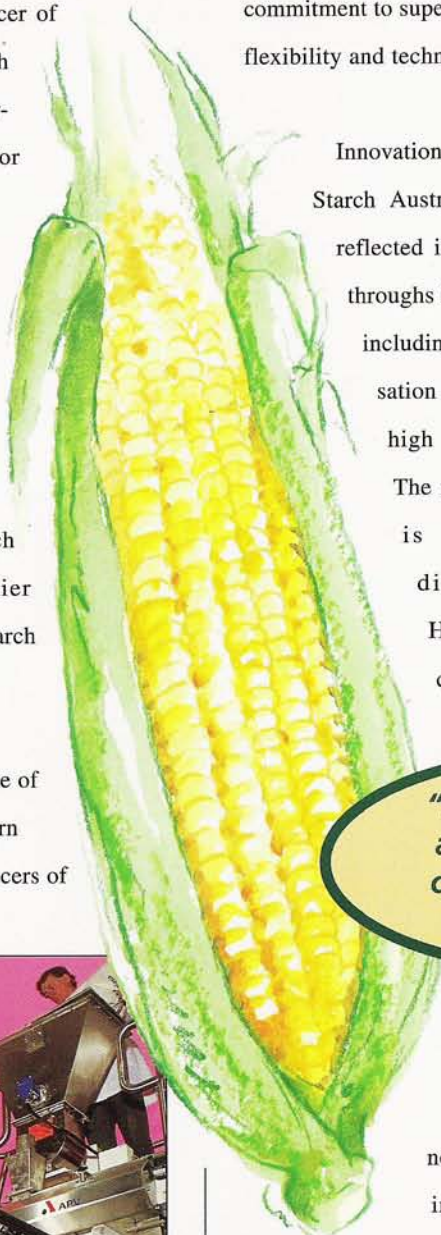

Starch Australasia, a member of Goodman Fielder Ingredients Limited which includes sister companies Germantown and Leiner Davis Gelatin, is a world class producer of wheat and corn starch products with an international reputation for quality, innovation and service.

Leading edge technology and a commitment to continuous improvement have assured Starch Australasia's premier position in modified starch manufacture.

Starch Australasia is one of the region's most modern and cost efficient producers of quality starch products, and nurtures long standing relationships with major domestic and international food producers who benefit from our commitment to superior service, quality, flexibility and technical support.

Innovation is the hallmark of Starch Australasia's operations, reflected in significant breakthroughs in starch technology including the commercialisation of wheat gluten and high amylose starches. The most recent success is the "invisible" dietary fibre, Hi-maize™, the culmination of twenty years' selective plant breeding, and now a key ingredient in a new generation of innovative high fibre consumer foods.

"Innovation, quality and service are the cornerstones of our business"

The business originated from pioneering family companies which, through acquisition and merger, have grown to include three manufacturing facilities at Lane Cove and Tamworth (Australia) plus Auckland (New Zealand). Major products include native and modified starches, dextrose, glucose, maltodextrins, dextrins, gluten and caramel.
